LETTER OF YOUTH TO MISS RADCLIFF HELD AS EVIDENCE

First Dated Dec. 17, 1915, but Many Received Shortly Before Girl's Death Burned.

AIR IN HEART AND BRAIN

State's Attorney Explains Circumstances to Which Death Is Attributed.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
OLNEY, Ill., July 27.—Letters of Roy Hinterslter to Elizabeth Radcliff found in the girl's trunk by State's Attorney Morris, are an important part of the State's evidence against Hinterslter, held in connection with the girl's death here Friday night.

The acquaintance of the two began 10 months ago, and the first of the letters is dated Dec. 17, 1915. The last one received the week of the death.
The letters are more frequent during April, May and June. The girl's sister, Mrs. Bert Fancher, declares that most of the letters received during the last three weeks had been burned by Elizabeth. Almost every letter of Hinterslter contained the underscored sentence: "Burn this letter."

Friday, the day the girl died, was opened in the presence of her sister.
She immediately tore it up and then put the fragments in a stove.

A letter written from West Salem,
Hinterslter's postoffice, dated April 25, asks her to meet a friend of his.
He said, "I will bring a fellow that you have never seen, and maybe you will make a match on him and care nothing for me any more."

According to the State's Attorney's office, Miss Radcliff last Friday morning asked her sister for a particular food, and when asked the reason for the request made a direct reference to her condition. Mrs. Fancher is said to have asked her if she was in trouble and the girl answered, "Yes, but I'll soon be out of it."

An explanation of circumstances to which are attributed the death of Miss Radcliff has been given by State's Attorney Morris.

The death of Miss Radcliff, it is claimed by the State's Attorney, was due to a bungling attempt to perform an illegal operation. Air bubbles, it is claimed, entered the circulatory system of the young girl, and when they reached the heart, or brain, death must have resulted.

Stating that the autopsy showed that the girl was in no delicate condition,
the prosecutor added:

"There were no exterior marks of violence. Three experienced surgeons found all organs perfectly normal."

Air in the Brain.

"In cutting into the right ventricle," he continued, "air escaped. The heart was perfectly healthy. When the surgeons removed the top of the skull they noticed bubbles of air. All blood vessels of the brain showed air circulation. There were no structural changes, but on a test the brain floated in water.
There was no lesion of the lung."

"Later it was discovered that a man threw away an instrument used in an illegal operation, while going to the sanatorium." It was found the man had boasted of previously using such instruments."

DEUTSCHLAND NOT EXPECTED TO DEPART FOR A WEEK

German Consul at Baltimore Responsible for Statement—Boat Ready to Start.

BALTIMORE, Md., July 27.—If Capt. Paul Koenig of the merchant submarine Deutschland plans to start today on the return voyage to Germany, there is nothing going on this morning at the pier where the sub-mersible is berthed that is any more indicative of departure than has been the case for the last few days.

When Carl A. Luederitz, German Consul here, announced that the reception to Ambassador von Bernstorff which he had planned at his home for last evening had been indefinitely postponed, he was asked when the Deutschland would leave.

"She will not leave for a week," answered Mr. Luederitz. Clearance papers were taken out yesterday. The Deutschland crew slept aboard the interned North German Lloyd steamer
Neckar last night.

WASHINGTON, July 27.—Sir Cecil Spring-Rice, the British Ambassador, informed Acting Secretary Fulk today

the Admiral commanding the British squadron on the Atlantic, denying that a British warship had entered Chesapeake Bay, as reported by the commander of the battleship Louisiana.

MRS. MATTERS NOT MOTHER OF "BABY IRENE," NURSE SAYS

Declares She Was Promised Money to Testify Falsely as to Parentage.

CHICAGO, July 27.—The same kind of a problem that vexed King Solomon disturbed the police of United States District Judge Landis today when he resumed the hearing of the claims of rival women to "Baby Irene." Motherhood of the baby, who is just past her first birthday, is claimed by Mrs. Alma Dollie Ledger-wood Matters and Margaret Ryan, the latter a Canadian girl who is attempting to gain possession of the child through a writ of habeas corpus.

No condemnation of the claims of Mrs. Matters, who recently was acquitted in a county court of conspiracy to foist "Baby Irene" as a spu-ritous heir on the Probate Court in order to obtain the estate of her late husband, was the testimony of the morning that when one witness asserted that she had been "coached" in the previous trial by attorneys for Mrs.
Matters, Judge Landis ordered that subpoenas be issued for three attorneys and Charles T. Mellon, a detective employed by Mrs. Matters.

The witness was Miss Marie Louise des Roitiers, head nurse of the Misericordia Hospital, in Ottawa, Ont., where the alleged fraud is said to have taken place. She related how the baby had been taken from Margaret Ryan immediately after its birth and given to Mrs. Matters, and wept when she told how she had been approached by detectives representing other heirs to the estate and threatened with imprisonment unless she testified concerning the false heir.

"After that," she continued, "Mrs.
Matters came to the hospital and told me that if I didn't testify that the baby belonged to her she would blacken the reputation of the hospital and the sisters."

"Were you paid any money?" asked the judge.

"No, sir. I was promised some, but I wouldn't accept it."

Miss Des Roitiers testified that fear prompted her to tell falsehoods in the early stages of the case and then made the charge that resulted in the summoning of Mrs. Matters' former attorneys.

Dr. Mark E. Goldstein testified yesterday that he had performed an operation on Mrs. Matters in November, 1914, which would make it almost impossible for her to become a mother.

Dr. Goldstein further testified that when he examined Mrs. Matters after July 24, 1915, the day on which she says she became a mother, he found no signs that such was the case.

INQUIRY BY ARMY CLEARS BUTLER IN SPANNELL SHOOTING

Hotel Man Who Killed Wife and Lieutenant-Colonel Violently
Jealous; Instance Is Cited.

SLAYER WAIVES INQUIRY

Presence in Alpine Causes No Excitement—Prisoner Apparently Under Severe Strain.

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., July 27.—The official report on the killing of Lieutenant-Colonel M. C. Butler at Alpine, Tex., last week by Harry Spannelli clears the name of the dead officer.

The report, transmitted to Major-General Funston by Col. J. A. Gaston, district commander with headquarters at Marfa, says that Lieutenant-Colonel Butler was aware that Spannelli was jealous of his wife and took care never to be with her except when others were present.

The immediate incident that led to the killing of the Lieutenant-Colonel and Mrs. Spannelli is described in the report. Col. Gaston, who hurried to Alpine immediately following word of the shooting, says that Lieutenant-Colonel and Mrs. Butler and Mr. and Mrs.
Spannelli had gone to the home of a friend who was ill and on their return to the hotel, where all lived, it was suggested that everyone, as a precaution, should wash his hands.

Col. Gaston says that shortly after this Spannelli went to the Butler rooms and finding apparently only Lieutenant-Colonel Butler and Mrs. Spannelli there, began to upbraid his wife. At this Mrs.
Butler came out of the bathroom and pointed out to him that she was one of the party.

Soon afterward Spannelli took the Lieutenant-Colonel and Mrs. Spannelli on the ride which ended in their being killed.

Spannelli Waives His Preliminary Hearing.

ALPINE, Tex., July 27.—Harry J.
Spannelli was brought here last night from El Paso, where he has been confined in jail for safekeeping since shooting to death his wife and Lieutenant-Colonel M. C. Butler of the Sixth United States Cavalry, on the evening of July 20, for his examining trial, which was called this morning at 7 o'clock and which he waived. He was remanded to the Sheriff of this county without bond, to await the action of the grand jury, which will convene the first Monday in September. Spannelli and his counsel refused to make any statement.

When the prisoner was brought into the courtroom it seemed obvious to friends that he was on the verge of a mental collapse. He sobbed a greeting to the few officers present and with bloodshot eyes searched the room. Apparently he paid little attention to the legal phases of the examination, but mumbled over and over again: "Oh, my little girl! My own little girl," referring apparently to his 5-year-old daughter, now at the home of her grandparents.

The examination was perfunctory and caused little excitement in the community. Few persons in the town realized it was being held, every effort having been made to keep the fact of Spannelli's presence here a secret because of the sentiment said to have been manifested after the shooting.

Immediately the Court had bound him over, Spannelli was handcuffed, taken to a waiting automobile and driven rapidly
out of town. He was driven to Marfa
and from there he will be taken by train to El Paso for safe keeping.

SENATE PASSES $312,000,000 BILL FOR ARMY

$2,000,000 Included for Relief of the Dependents of Soldiers.

WASHINGTON, July 27.—The army appropriation bill carrying approximately $312,000,000 was passed by the Senate without a record vote this afternoon.
It carries an amendment appropriating $2,000,000 for relief of dependent families of enlisted men in the organized militia and regular army service in the Mexican emergency. Dependent families would be given not more than $60
a month, in the discretion of the Secretary of War.

Senator Reed's amendment, voted into the bill yesterday, to permit national guardsmen in the Federal service to vote at their camps in the coming presidential election, was stricken out today on a point of order. An appeal from the ruling was voted down.

Senator La Follette asked for a suspension of the rules to permit a vote on his amendment to appropriate $2,- 000,000 for the support of dependents of enlisted men of the National Guard.
By a vote of 4 to 3 the Senate yesterday suspended the rules to adopt an amendment to provide that boys under 21 serving in the army would not be retained in the service unless they filed within 30 days the written consent of their parents or guardians.

Senator Reed offered an amendment which was adopted making the existing provision for increased pay to the army
when in service in foreign soil apply
also to service on the Mexican border.
Under it officers will receive an additional 10 per cent and enlisted men 20 per cent. The Senate also increased the House appropriation for pay from $1,000,- 000 to $1,175,240. As a safeguard to the health of soldiers an amendment was adopted appropriating $250,000 for construction of wooden floors and screens in troop tents along the border.

Exclusion of Negroes From Army and Navy Proposed in House Bill.

WASHINGTON, July 27.—Exclusion of negroes from enlistment in the army and navy, a call on the War Department for facts as to previous military experience of national guardsmen called out by the President, and furloughs for all guardsmen now under arms who may apply for them were proposed in three measures introduced in the House today. All were referred without action to committees.

referred here a secret because

ifested after the shooting.

a waiting automobile and driven rapidly
out of town. He was driven to Marfa

MEAT CUTTERS OF THREE BIG PACKING CONCERNS STRIKE

Armour, Swift and Morris Employes Walk Out at National Stockyards.

Meat cutters employed at the Armour,
Morris and Swift packing houses in East St. Louis went on strike this morning. There is wide discrepancy between various accounts of the number involved, the packing house men saying about 300 have quit work, while union men say the total is near 500.
According to the union men, the action of the packing houses yesterday in discharging about 50 men, who were leaders in a secret movement to organize the butchers into a union, was responsible for the strike.

Earl Zimmerman, business agent for the East St. Louis Meatcutters' Association, said that 250 butchers held a secret meeting Sunday afternoon and organized a union. When the news came that their leaders had been laid off, Zimmerman said, about 70 of a total of 300 butchers employed at the three plants held another secret meeting last night, joined the union and voted to quit work until their comrades are reinstated.

Frank A. Hunter, superintendent at the Swift plant, said that 100 out of 400 butchers employed there failed to appear for work this morning. He said 15 men were laid off yesterday because business was slack and that similar action is taken about this time every year.

Robert E. Conway of Armour's said when seen in the morning, that 100 butchers had failed to appear. In the afternoon he said the number was larger than 100, but he would not give a definite figure.

Conway talked with a committee of strikers, and said afterward that they told him they were demanding recognition of their union and the eight-hour day. He replied that they would not get either, and the committee left.

Conway said the men still had the privilege of returning to work under the old conditions. He said he did not believe the plant would have to close, and said that, even if it should close, local prices of meat should not be much affected, because of the number of supply plants. The packers won a strike in Kansas City three weeks ago, he said, the walkout lasting but two days. "Pork chops are still the same price," he remarked.

John W. Paton of the Morris plant said 100 of the 300 butchers employed there failed to appear. Yesterday nine

LOUD AND UNUSUAL NOISE OF ROOSTER REACHES COURT

Elaine Avenue Resident Complains
Against Neighbor for Broken Morning Number.

T. Francis Campbell of 2630 Elaine avenue is commanded by a summons issued today to appear in police court
Aug. 4 on a charge of permitting on his premises a rooster which, on the morning of July 26, 1916, is alleged to have made loud and unusual noises, disturbing the peace of Charles Hil-ger and his wife, Magenta, who live next door at 2624 Elaine avenue.

The summons was issued after Mr.
and Mrs. Hilger had repeatedly complained to him of the loud and unusual noises made by the Campbell rooster at very early hours.

In an effort to settle the case out of court the prosecutor sent for Campbell and told him the neighbors were finding fault with his rooster.
Campbell was defiant. He said the rooster was a handsome which could be put in a man's hat, and it was a pet,
and it made no loud and unusual noises, and he was not going to get rid of it.

STUCKEY'S SLAYER ARRESTED

Farmhand Says He Shot Man in Saloon Through Fear.

John McCarthy, a farmhand, who shot and killed George Stuckey, 38 years old, a medicine salesman, in a saloon near St. Peters, St. Charles County, last night, was arrested near Gilmore, Mo., this morning. He said he shot Stuckey because he feared the latter would kill him.

Stuckey was the son of John Stuckey, a farmer who lives between St. Charles and St. Peters, McCarthy and the younger Stuckey had trouble
a dance a year ago.

men were laid off because business was slack, he said.

At all three plants it was said the strike would not interfere with business and Conway remarked jocularly that "pork chops are still the same price."

Henry Seibert, a trustee of the Meat-cutters' Union, said that many laborers and some 20 women had quit work at the plants in sympathy with the butchers.

2 HEIRS SUE FOR DISTRIBUTION OF $200,000 ESTATE

Granddaughters of Peter Ober-nier Say Uncles and Aunt Refuse to Carry Out Will.

Mrs. Frances Obernier Conrad of 373
North Twenty-fifth street and her sister, Blanche Katherine Obernier, 12 years old, today filed suit for one-fourth interest in the estate of their grandfather, Peter Obernier, who died in 1894, leaving property which the petition values at $200,000. The defendants are Joseph F.
Obernier, 5419 Algernon avenue, cashier of the Northwestern Bank; Mrs. Albert
C. Haumueller and Emil Obernier of 2908
Adelaide avenue, children of Peter Ober-nier, together with Mrs. Haumueller's husband, the Haumueller Real Estate
Co. and the Frances Realty and Investment Co.

The plaintiffs recite that it was provided by the will of their grandfather that his estate was to be distributed among his legal heirs equally after the death of his wife, Mrs. Frances Ober-nier, to whom was left a life interest.
She died last May. The will has not been carried out in regard to the plaintiffs, it is claimed.

It is alleged that shortly before Mrs.
Obernier's death she was influenced to deed to the defendants all the property of the estate and all of the stock she owned in the Frances company, which she organized in 1913 as a holding corporation for realty. Among the assets of this corporation is included realty of the estate of Peter Obernier or property derived from the income of that estate, it is alleged.

The plaintiffs say that their grandmother acted in defiance of her husband's will for the purpose of depriving them of their inheritance and that she was so influenced by defendants.
The petition states that the defendants, particularly Mr. and Mrs. Hau-mueller, and their grandmother, became estranged from plaintiff's father, Robert A. Obernier, and mother, because of his marriage, and this continued to the time of his death four years ago. Since then his widow and children have been ignored by the defendants, a statement of the condition of their grandmother's estate has been refused them and there has been no division of the property, the petition recites. It is alleged that the defendants endeavored to alienate the affections of the plaintiffs' father from their mother and offered to pay the expense of divorce proceedings.

Haumueller could not be reached for a statement.

GERMAN SOCIALISTS WARN WORKERS AGAINST STRIKE

Socialist Committee and Labor Commission Says in Manifesto Duty Is to Work for Peace.

BERLIN, via London, July 27.—The manifesto to the working classes issued by the Socialist Executive Committee and the general commission of labor unions, appealing against the general strike which the leaders of the Liebknecht branch of the Socialists are endeavoring to organize, reads substantially as follows:

An attempt is being made, through the circulation of leaflets, to sow hatred and distrust against the deputies chosen by the workmen themselves.

Labor has been instigated to ill-considered proceedings and an unscrupulous propaganda has been conducted to cause strikes for which the unions and the Socialist party must disclaim all responsibility.

The Unionists and Socialists, therefore, consider it their duty to warn labor against the machinations of the apostles of protest and advocates of a general strike. It is promised that the constituted labor organizations will do everything possible to support the just demands of their members.

The statement acknowledges the difficulties to be encountered in distributing food supplies, and cautions patience and self-sacrifice, without resort to a strike. In conclusion, the statement says that the most important task is to aid in the speedy coming of peace.

SERIOUS RESULTS FOLLOW JOKE WITH COMPRESSED AIR

Wagner Electric Company Employee's Whole Body Distended by Pressure.

William Werthmann, 22 years old, of 3840 Delmar boulevard, is recovering at the Deaconess Hospital from the effects of a practical joke played on him last Saturday at the plant of the Wagner Electric Co., where air under a pressure of 90 pounds to the square inch was introduced into his system by Richard Broughton, a fellow employee.

Werthmann operates a machine shop in the city, and was at the Wagner Electric Co. plant at the time. During the lunch hour Broughton slipped up on him with the nozzle of the compressed air tube. When the valve was opened, releasing the air, Werthmann fell from his chair, bleeding at the eyes, ears and mouth. In the fall his scalp was cut.

Werthmann was picked up unconscious and carried to the factory hospital. His body was considerably distended by the air. After receiving emergency treatment from Dr. Potter, the company's physician, he was taken to his home, where Dr. H. G. Nicks performed a surgical operation to release the air. Werthmann remained unconscious several hours, and after the operation his condition was such that it was thought advisable to remove him to the hospital.

W. A. Layman, president of the Wagner company, discharged Broughton when he learned of the serious result of the practical joke. The rules of the company, he said, prohibited workmen from playing with the tools or machinery. Broughton is 20 years old. He could not be reached for a statement.

NEW YORK, July 27.—Associate Justice Louis D. Brandeis of the United States Supreme Court has not resigned as honorary chairman of the Provisional Committee for General Zionist Affairs, and retains his leadership of American Zionism, the American Jewish Chronicle announces.

According to the Chronicle, the following conditions have been established as the preliminary basis for peace between the two factions in American Jewish Zionism.

Palestine is to be discussed and given a permanent place in the platform of the congress. Both organizations are to unite and form one congress organization with equal representation from either side. The first session is to take place at the latest before the close of 1916. The second session is to meet after the cessation of hostilities in Europe and it is to bring the Jewish problem before the bar of humanity.

C. C. HEYWOOD, AT VANDERVOORT'S 49 YEARS, DIES

Retired Last Year After Long Service as Buyer, Salesman and Floor Manager.

Charles Cummings Heywood, 78 years old, of 4175 Botanical avenue, who was known as the Nestor of St. Louis dry goods salesmen and floorwalkers, died last night at the home of Mrs. Marie Maubaux, 4909 McPherson avenue, from the effects of a tumor on his head. He became ill two weeks ago while calling on Mrs. Maubaux, and his condition was such that it was not thought best to remove him to his home or a hospital.

Heywood was for 49 years in the continuous employ of the Scruggs, Vandervoort & Barney Dry Goods Co., up to his retirement in May, 1915. His first employment was with a local and embroidery firm in Boston, his native city, and he later worked for other concerns in New York and St. Louis before entering the service of Vandervoort's as lace, embroidery and handkerchief buyer in April, 1866.

He remained in the buying department until 1888, and then became floor manager. In this position, for 27 years, Heywood became well known to the older customers of the store and society women would frequently stop in their shopping tours to talk with him, while his white hair and his courtly manners attracted attention from strangers.

In the spring of last year he said to M. L. Wilkinson, president of the firm, that he had decided to resign and give place to a younger man. Wilkinson replied that he would not be permitted to resign, but could retire on half pay if he wished. At the time of his retirement a luncheon was given in his honor, which was attended by 31 persons who had been in the firm's employ 25 years or more.

In an interview which was printed in the Post-Dispatch soon after his retirement Heywood expressed his belief that men were responsible for most of the extravagances of women's fashions, and that men, rather than women, were the lavish spenders. He told, also, of mercantile conditions in St. Louis of the '60s and '70s, and of the employment of the first saleswoman, whom he put to work at the lace counter.

He was a widower and had no children. The body is at the Wagoner chapel, 3621 Olive street, today, and will be sent to Hollis, N. H., where a sister, Mrs. Henry Russell, lives.

WOMAN TESTIFIES MAN SHE KILLED HAD PURSUED HER

Wife of Illinois Farmer Exonerated After Shooting Former Race Horse Owner.

MT. VERNON, Ill., July 27.—A six months' pursuit of a woman ended late Tuesday afternoon when Mrs. Anna Perry shot and killed Nathan W. Sexton, a well known farmer and former owner of a string of race horses, from a window of her little log cabin home on Lagoon Creek, in a backwoods section of Wayne County, according to testimony at the inquest.

The woman fired with a shotgun as Sexton advanced on the house. A few hours later a coroner's jury made up of residents of the neighborhood, who were thoroughly familiar with the events that had led up to the killing, pronounced the woman's act "justifiable." She was not arrested, and as Sexton's relatives have declared their intention of taking no action against her, she will probably never be called upon to stand trial.

The evidence introduced at the inquest showed that Sexton, who owned a large farm about 15 miles away, had since early in February boarded at the house nearest to the cabin occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Perry and had sought by every means in his power to persuade the woman to leave her cabin and go away with him. Several years ago the woman had left her husband, but had later returned to him.

Sexton, it was shown at the inquest, had written her scores of letters, some of which were read to the jury. He had called almost daily at the Perry home. On Tuesday, according to Mrs. Perry's testimony, Sexton went three times to the cabin. When he appeared for the third time Mrs. Perry shot. She told the coroner's jury he tried to draw a pistol. A loaded revolver was found in his pocket.

Perry testified that he was asleep in the house.

LINDSEY TO SPEAK HERE

Candidate for Governor Arrives for Series of Talks.

The Rev. Arthur N. Lindsey of Henry County, candidate for the Democratic nomination for Governor, arrived in St. Louis today to make a series of speeches here. Lindsey is conducting his campaign from an automobile. His campaign managers have also hired a moving van to carry Lindsey banners through the street.

John E. Swanger, who made two speeches in St. Louis last night, will speak tonight at Grand avenue and Herbert street and at 724 Michigan avenue. Swanger is a candidate for the Republican nomination for Governor. He devoted a considerable part of his speeches in St. Louis last night to assuring his audiences that he was against prohibition. His opponents have accused him of being "dry."

St. Louis Manufacturer Exports to Europe Scarcity of Hides

St. Louis shoe manufacturer told a Post-Dispatch reporter public will have to pay 10 to 20 more for shoes this fall as more shoes which heretofore sold to $4.50 a pair will cost from 50 cents a pair more, while shoes will average a dollar. The European war is to blame. ## SHOES TO COST 50 CENTS TO $1 MORE THIS FALL

St. Louis Manufacturers Blame Exports to Europe and Scarcity of Hides.

St. Louis shoe manufacturers today told a Post-Dispatch reporter that the public will have to pay 10 to 20 per cent more for shoes this fall and winter. Shoes which heretofore sold at $2 to $4.50 a pair will cost from 50 to 75 cents a pair more, while $5, $6 and $7 shoes will average a dollar higher.

The European war is to blame, said Jackson Johnson, president of the International Shoe Co. He gave as the principal causes for the increase in prices the heavy export of shoes to the countries at war, scarcity of raw hides from those countries and a like scarcity of ships to bring raw materials from other countries.

And there is no relief in sight, Johnson added. On the contrary, he said, the public may prepare for a continued gradual increase in the price of shoes for an indefinite period, even for some time after the close of the war.

"Kids and calf skins, used in the manufacture of high-grade shoes, are up from 50 to 100 per cent, and, owing to the war, we could not possibly get enough of these skins to supply this country for two months at any price," Johnson said. "Kids come from India, the Balkan states, South America and China. The Balkans are embroiled in the war, and shippers cannot get ships to transport skins from the other named countries."

"Most of the calf skins we use in the manufacture of shoes were imported from France, Germany and Russia, but these countries are not exporting a hide this year. Thus a great scarcity in raw material is created in this country."

"Our export of shoes has increased enormously. Warsaw, Poland, and Germany supplied all Russia with shoes before the war, but Warsaw now is in the hands of the Germans, and Russia had called on this country for shoes. Exports to other countries also are great."

"In normal times, Russia sent us practically all our supply of coltskins, from which are manufactured, when crumpled, the high-grade patent leather dress alterations of this supply has been cut off entirely, and consequently this grade of shoes will feel a substantial increase in price."

"In addition to the shortage of hides, the cost of tanning has increased since the war began from 200 to 1000 per cent, owing principally to the scarcity of chemicals and coloring stuffs used in tanning. This condition, with the added increase in findings, which are laces, thread, eyelets, buttons and tacks, has helped increase the cost of production that will result in an increase in price to the consumer of from 10 to 20 per cent on all shoes at once."

Johnson said he would not definitely prophesy a continued gradual increase in price of shoes, but said the general impression of manufacturers is that conditions make the present increase imperative, and as there seems to be no amelioration of these conditions in prospect, it is likely that shoes will go on advancing for an indefinite period.

BRITISH SHIPS DAILY PASS
GERMAN BALTIC BLOCKADE

Vessels Leave Russian Ports With Swedish Crews and Cross Gulf of Bothnia.

STOCKHOLM, July 27.—Almost every day British steamers lying at Russian ports manage to get out of the Baltic and escape the German cruisers. The ships generally cross the Gulf of Bothnia and are piloted around Sweden inside the territorial limit.

This traffic during the last few weeks has been considerably developed. The ships as a rule take on board an entire Swedish crew and Swedish officers. The pro-German papers here are arguing that this traffic be stopped, contending that it is not in accord with absolute neutrality. But the Government has taken no action so far against it.

Holland Rose Bushes Floated Ashore.

NEW YORK, July 27.—Hundreds of rose bushes in crates floated ashore at Long Beach yesterday afternoon. They are Holland rose bushes, normally worth at least $1 apiece, and their importation into this country is forbidden because of some insect which lodges in them. Probably some incoming ship, finding she could not land the shrubs, threw them overboard.

SCHNEIDER, HELD IN NORTH, TO BE HERE TOMORROW

Refuses to Discuss $600 Embezzlement of Which Publishing Company Accuses Him.

H. Gustave Schneider, former cashier of the Concordia Publishing Co., a Lutheran Church institution at Jefferson avenue and Miami street, will probably arrive in St. Louis tomorrow from Oconomowoc, Wis., where he was arrested yesterday after having evaded the authorities for a year and a half. He is accused of embezzling $600 from the company, which is said to have suffered a loss of nearly $10,000 through him.

Schneider left the publishing office at noon, Jan. 30, 1915, and the money for the week's payroll, about $200, disappeared at the same time. He was treasurer of the Star Investment Co., composed of employees of the publishing firm; treasurer of St. Luke's German Lutheran Church, Alaska avenue and Noosho street, and treasurer of the American Neutrality League, which was then conducting an embargo campaign.

He was also a leading member of the Western Rowing Club, of which he was president until a short time before his departure. To some of his fellow-members in the club he was known as a lavish spender and entertainer. He lived at 3836 South Jefferson avenue.

The police learned, several weeks after Schneider's departure, that he was in Chicago. At a request from the police here, the Chicago police looked him up and reported that he had gone to Cincinnati. A search for him there was unsuccessful, but recently the police were informed that Schneider had been seen in Oconomowoc, where he has relatives. A request on the authorities there, made several weeks ago, resulted in the arrest yesterday.

When questioned by reporters after his arrest, according to dispatches, Schneider said he left home because of frequent quarrels with his wife. He said he went to Oconomowoc because he wished to see his two daughters by a former marriage, who are there. He had nothing to say about the embezzlement charge.

At the time of Schneider's disappearance his wife said at first that she had confidence in him, but later she said he had been "living too high," and that she had known he could not meet all his expenses from his salary of $150 a month.

His departure occurred at the time when a new rule of the publishing firm, requiring all its employees handling money to furnish bond, was about to go into effect. The concern had previously followed the policy of trusting these employees on the basis of character and church membership.

Soon after his departure it was said that, in the event of his arrest, the publishing firm might not prosecute him, because of religious scruples on the part of the officers against taking such action in the case of a brother churchman. Edmund Seel, treasurer of the firm, said today that this was a mistake, and that the officers of the firm would aid the State in prosecuting Schneider.

Telephone messages, in which Schneider's name was connected with that of a widow, were received at the publishing house after his departure, and there were other suggestions in which different women figured, but it has not appeared that any of these "tips" aided the police in tracing him.

LIKELY TO GO TO GRAND JURY

Election Board and Democratic Committee Row Over Right to Name Representatives at Polls.

The fight between the Board of Election Commissioners and several members of the Democratic City Committee over challengers and watchers for the primary election next Tuesday is likely to be taken before the grand jury for investigation immediately after the election.

The Board of Election Commissioners has served notice on City Committeemen Thomas Leonard of the Twenty-seventh Ward, Tully of the Twenty-sixth Ward, Durning of the Nineteenth Ward, and William P. Daley of the Twelfth Ward, that their challengers and watchers will not be permitted to serve at Tuesday's election.

The committeemen have employed Attorney Thomas Kane and have filed a complaint with the Circuit Attorney. The Circuit Attorney's office, while holding that under the law the committeemen had the right to name the challengers and watchers, said that no action could be taken until some act infringing upon the rights of the committeemen had been committed. The committeemen probably will seek a restraining order to enjoin the commissioners from interfering with their watchers and challengers.

CHANGE IN SLATE OF GERMAN ALLIANCE CAUSES DISSENSION

City Officers Repudiate Substitution by State Officers in Court of Appeals Indorsement.

Ten members of the Executive Committee of the German-American Alliance in St. Louis issued a statement today repudiating the action of the State President, Dr. Charles H. Weinsberg, of 2805 Lafayette avenue, and Paul O. Sommer, chairman of the Legislative Committee, for changing the indorsement of the Alliance from Lambert E. Walther for Judge of the St. Louis Court of Appeals to William Dee Becker. The members of the Executive Committee stated that Walther was unanimously indorsed and that nobody had authority to make the change.

Committee Members' Statement.
Here is the statement issued by the members of the Executive Committee:

"St. Louis, Mo., July 26, 1916.
"The undersigned members of the Executive Committee of the German-American Alliance, St. Louis branch, hereby certify that they were present at a regular meeting of the committee held on Friday evening, July 14, 1916, at which meeting the list of candidates for the various city and State offices to be voted upon at the coming primaries was submitted for State, national and local politics. Many of the members of the organization take the position that the Alliance is nonpolitical in its purposes, and that it has no authority whatever under its charter to indorse candidates for any office. Dr. Weinsberg told a Post-Dispatch reporter at 3 p. m. yesterday that the indorsement of Becker had been withdrawn and that the Walther indorsement would stand, but members of the Executive Committee said that he was still mailing out ballots bearing Becker's name at 7 p. m.

A circular letter, written in German, was sent out with the sample ballots, signed by Paul O. Sommer and Dr. Weinsberg. This letter urged members to subscribe for the St. Louis Times. It was stated that the Times was the only neutral paper in St. Louis, supporting their cause, and that it would continue to remain neutral if it got a sufficient number of subscribers.

Dr. Weinsberg's Dismissal Statement.
A Post-Dispatch reporter interviewed Dr. Weinsberg in an effort to learn why the Alliance, for the first time in its history, had made up and recommended to its members a complete slate of candidates for all State and city offices, and what test the organization applied to candidates in making its choice.

Dr. Weinsberg said the charter and the by-laws of the German-American Alliance prohibit the organization from "entering politics," but that there was one provision under which the organization could participate in politics when it became "necessary."

"We were forced to make a list of candidates on both tickets and recommend them to our members on account of the Anti-Saloon League," Dr. Weinsberg said.

"Does the Anti-Saloon League," the reporter said, "make a slate of candidates for all State and city offices?"
"No, but this Ministerial Alliance here in St. Louis," Dr. Weinsberg paused. The reporter waited for him to explain the connection, if any, between the Anti-Saloon League and Ministerial Alliance, but he said nothing more.

When the reporter suggested that the Ministerial Alliance had never made any slate of candidates, Dr. Weinsberg said the German-American Alliance had been forced to support candidates who believe in "personal liberty."

Questions Which Alliance Asked.
The Alliance, in the letters which its Legislative Committee sent to all candidates, asked them three questions: "Are you in favor of personal liberty?" "Are you against prohibition?" and "Have you made any pledges to the Anti-Saloon League?"

"Will you explain what the Alliance means by personal liberty?" the reporter asked.
"I mean by personal liberty—I mean that we believe prohibition does not protect, and that we believe in the regulation of the liquor traffic, and that education and regulation are the proper remedies for the evil of the liquor traffic. And we also believe that any man who wishes to take a glass of beer in the street has the right to do so. We don't think that light drinks do any harm. We do not think that a man can be forced to be good, but that he can be educated and persuaded to be good."

In trying to further enlighten the reporter on the subject of personal liberty, the Alliance's application of the personal liberty test to candidates, and defined at length his own personal attitude toward it. He explained that the Alliance appointed a Legislative Committee to inquire into the character and efficiency of the candidates in regard to their stand on personal liberty and prohibition. He said the committee tried to get all the information it could about the candidates, and had used its best judgment in making its recommendations.

"Why," the reporter inquired, "did your organization recommend Charles H. Starke of St. Louis for Supreme Judge as against Judge Woodson? Were you not familiar with Mr. Starke's record as attorney for the old School Board of St. Louis several years ago, and did you not know that although he is a St. Louis man, the local Bar Association turned him down and recommended the re-election of Judge Woodson?"

"No, I knew nothing about Mr. Starke's record," Dr. Weinsberg said. "Of course we sometimes make mistakes, and we do all we can to correct them."
"We recommended Fred Gardner for Governor because he is a good business man and knows St. Louis's needs, and we recommended Judge Lamm because he is a man of the highest type, not a politician, and we think he would make the people a good Governor."

Did Not Know Zacharia's Record.
"You also recommended former Judge William Zacharia for Judge of the St. Louis Circuit Court. Were you not familiar with his record on the bench?"
"No, I never heard anything about his record. I know Judge Zacharia, but I am not familiar with his record."

"Did you never read the editorials in the Globe-Democrat when Judge Zacharia was a candidate for Mayor several years ago, warning the Republicans that his nomination by the party would be a mistake and a peril?"
"No, I never read them."

"Did the attitude of the candidates with respect to the European war influence your organization in making its recommendations?"
"Not on the State candidates, but, of course, we want senatorial and congressional candidates and a President who are absolutely for Americanism and justice for all countries, and who will treat all countries at war alike."

Then Dr. Weinsberg made the usual German-American arguments for an embargo against the shipment of arms to England, France and Russia, unless Germany should be in a position to get an equal quantity of munitions in America.

He also discussed the European war from the German point of view, and accused President Wilson of being partial to England and unfair to Germany. Dr. Weinsberg said that he was born in Germany and came to America when he was 15 years old. He declared that he was thoroughly American.

Condemns Curling Iron

Little Mary Pickford, whose pretty curls have been so much admired, writes that she has never used the curling iron. She fails to see the wisdom of burning the life out of the hair. That the heated iron is ruinous to the hair is being more and more appreciated. Many are discarding this instrument of torture in favor of plain liquid selters. This is not only harmless, but is really beneficial to the hair. Instead of giving one's tresses a burnt-out, lifeless appearance, it gives them a bright luster, and the curls look altogether natural. It is a simple thing to procure a few ounces of liquid selters from the drugist and apply a little at night with a clean toothbrush. The hair should be moistened the full length, from root to tip. The beautiful wavy effect upon arising is agreeably surprising.—ADV.

LIGHTING PLANT SURVEY LIKELY TO BE APPROVED

Committee of Board of Aldermen
Probably Will Recommend $12-500 Appropriation.

Notwithstanding opposition to the bill appropriating $12,500 for a survey of St. Louis to determine the feasibility of establishing a municipal lighting plant, the Ways and Means Committee of the Board of Aldermen probably will recommend its passage.

Opponents of the bill say that the information which the proposed survey is intended to obtain is already available in reports of the former Municipal Public Utilities Commission and the present State Public Service Commission.

Advocates of a municipal light plant assert that the findings of the commissions affected private utilities did not touch the question of a municipal system.

Negro Killed by Train.

fell beneath one of the cars.

LETTER NOTIFIES BRUSSELS'
MAYOR OF $1,000,000 FINE

German Governor Explains Why Celebration of National Holiday Is Forbidden.

LONDON, July 27.—Germany's notification that a fine of $1,000,000 marks
($1,000,000) had been imposed on Brussels as punishment for the demonstration held on the Belgian national anniversary last Friday will be contained in a letter addressed by Lieutenant-General Hut, Governor of Brussels, to the Mayor of that city, according to the Daily Telegraph's Rotterdam correspondent.

The letter says, in part:

"The Brussels municipal authorities,
in a loyal, sensible, thorough manner,
supported the regulations of the German authorities, so that, until evening of the last day, unhappily circumstances were avoided.

"The German police did not interfere on seeing the people wearing green ribbons, as public order was not disturbed. But in the evening, when Cardinal Mercier rode through the town in an automobile, demonstrations occurred which were directly contrary to the commands of the German authorities, and which had the character of exciting the people to rebellion or foolish deeds. I therefore proposed to the Governor-General to fine the community. The Governor accepted the proposal and imposed a fine of $1,000,000
marks."

Iron Is Greatest of All Strength Builders, Says Doctor

A Secret of the Great Endurance and Power of Athletes

Ordinary Nourished Iron Will Make Delicate, Nervous, Rascally People
200 Per Cent. Stronger in Two Weeks' Time in Many Cases.

Most people foolishly seem to think they are going to get renewed health and strength from some stimulating medicine, secret nostrum or narcotic drug, said Dr. Sauer, a well-known specialist, who has studied widely both in this country and Europe, when, as a matter of fact, real and true strength can only come from the food you eat. But people often fail to get the strength out of their food because they haven't enough iron in their blood to enable it to change food into living matter. From their weakened nervous condition they know something is wrong, but they can't tell what, so they generally commence dosing for stomach, liver or kidney trouble, or symptoms of some other ailment, which may go on for years, while the patient suffers untold agony. If you are not strong or well you owe it to yourself to make this following test: See how long you can work or how long you can walk without becoming tired. Next take two five-grain tablets of ordinary iron from the medicine box after meals for two weeks. Then test your strength again and see how much longer you have gained. People, who were ailing, run-down, unable to get strength and endurance and get rid of all symptoms of stomach, liver, kidney and other troubles in from ten to fourteen days, time simply by taking iron in the proper form. And this after they had in some cases been doctoring for months without obtaining any benefit. But don't take the old-fashioned iron pills, which are a waste of money. You must take iron in a form that can be easily absorbed and assimilated like nuxated iron. It is only nuxated iron that will give you the strength and endurance and blood with iron before he went into the army, while many another has come down to inglorious defeat simply for the lack of iron.

NOTE.—Nuxated Iron, recommended above by Dr. Sauer, is not a patent medicine nor secret remedy, but one which is well known to druggists and whose iron constituents is widely prescribed by eminent physicians everywhere. Unlike the old-fashioned iron products, it is easily assimilated, does not injure the teeth, make them black, nor upset the stomach; on the contrary, it is most potent remedy in nearly all forms of indigestion, as well as for nervous run-down conditions. The manufacturers have such great confidence in it that they will offer to forfeit $100.00 to any charitable institution if they cannot take any man or woman whose blood lacks iron and increase their strength 200 per cent or over in four weeks' time, provided they use nuxated iron. They also offer to refund your money if it does not at least double your strength and endurance in ten days' time. It is dispensed in this city by Judge & Dolph Drug Co., 1015 N. 10th St., and by all druggists, including Dr. Sauer, and all other druggists.

WOMAN WHO GAVE BONE FOR HUSBAND SUES FOR DIVORCE

Charges He Told Her of Love
for Another, and Struck Her.

SAVED HIS INJURED LEG

Submitted to Grafting Operation
After Man Was Hurt
by Auto.

Mrs. Florence Butenhoff, of 7425 Rithel avenue, Forest Park Heights, filed suit at Clayton yesterday afternoon for divorce from Frederick Butenhoff, whom she saved from being a cripple by submitting to an operation of bone grafting four years ago. Butenhoff, who formerly kept a saloon and grocery at Richmond Heights, was struck Nov. 17, 1911, on the Clayton road by the automobile of R. E. Funsten, driven by Funsten's chauffeur. His right leg was broken in two places. An operation was unsuccessful because the periosteum had been destroyed. Amputation could only be averted by bone-grafting. A piece of bone one inch wide and four inches long was taken from Mrs. Butenhoff's left leg below the knee and transferred to her husband's leg. The operation was successful. Butenhoff recovered. Mrs. Butenhoff says her leg, from which the bone was taken, sometimes gives her trouble.

She Loses Suit.

Butenhoff sued Funsten and there was a compromise by which he is said to have received $500. Mrs. Butenhoff sued for $10,000 for the pain and humiliation incident to the bone-grafting operation and for the after effects which she alleged she suffered. A demurrer was sustained on the ground that the cause of action was too remote. The Butenhoffs were married Sept. 25, 1900, and separated April 21, 1916. Mrs. Butenhoff alleges in her petition that her husband nagged at her and quarreled with her and pursued her with petty and contemptuous accusations, so that her home life became wretched, unhappy and finally unbearable. He struck and beat her, she says, and scarcely took her anywhere, denying her social recreation and cutting her off from social intercourse with friends. She alleges that he paid attentions to other women and drank with them at roadhouses and at public cafes. For the past eight years, she alleges, he has associated with a married woman, whom she names in the petition. He told her, she says, that he loved this woman and that he had not the slightest affection or regard for his wife and wished he was rid of her. On April 21, she says, he went away, telling her that he was going to meet the woman and that he would not return. Since she says, she has requested him to return and he has refused. There are four children, Earl, 15 years old; Robert, 13; Florence, 11, and Roy, 6. Mrs. Butenhoff asks their custody.

Tells of Suspicion.

Mrs. Butenhoff told a Post-Dispatch reporter today that her suspicions were aroused when her husband insisted upon taking the woman along whenever he and Mrs. Butenhoff went anywhere. Rumors had reached her before, but she had paid no attention to them. In April her oldest son told her he had seen Butenhoff and the woman buggy riding together. She also discovered that Butenhoff carried the woman's picture in his watch. Neighbors of the Butenhoffs are said to be indignant at Butenhoff for his alleged neglect of his wife. A man and woman of the neighborhood are said to have separated because the husband upheld Butenhoff's course. About a month ago Butenhoff went to a lawyer in Clayton and wanted him to file a suit for divorce against Mrs. Butenhoff. The lawyer, who was familiar with the circumstances, refused to file the suit and denounced Butenhoff.

Denunciation of Ballot Will Continue

If Either Are Elected Governor, He Declares.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., July 27.—Denunciation of the ballot will continue if either John M. Atkinson or Frederick D. Gardner is nominated and elected Governor of Missouri, says the charge made last night by John T. Barker, Attorney-General and gubernatorial aspirant in a speech here.

Conditions prevalent at the last municipal election in Kansas City are traceable directly to the "ring" of which both Gardner and Atkinson have belonged or now are enrolled, the Attorney-General declared.

Philippine Exports Set Record.

WASHINGTON, July 27.—Export trade of the Philippine Islands reached a new high mark during the first six months of the present year, says a report given out today by the Insular Bureau. The total was $25,000,000, an increase of $4,500,000 over the same period last year. The total for six months exceeds the total for any 12 months prior to 1910. Internal revenue collections totaled $6,500,000 for the six months, an increase of $844,286 over the 1915 figures.

Acid Stomachs Are Dangerous

Common Sense Advice by a New York Physician.

"Acid" stomachs are dangerous because acid irritates and inflames the delicate lining of the stomach, thus hindering and preventing the proper action of the stomach, and leading to probably nine-tenths of the cases of stomach trouble from which people suffer. Crude, heavy medicines and medicinal treatments are useless in such cases, for they merely artificially digest the food and leave the stomach as dangerous as ever. The food must be neutralized and its fermentation prevented, and the best thing for this purpose is a liquid of sodium bicarbonate, a simple alkaline solution in a little warm or cold water after meals, which not only neutralizes the acid, but also prevents the fermentation from which acidity is developed. Food that is ordinarily eaten greater distress may be eaten without discomfort. Food that is eaten with a little bicarbonate, which can be obtained at any drug store, and should always be kept handy.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

Gordon Not a Fit Candidate.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.
We wish to join with a number of your correspondents in calling attention to some of the many reasons why Mr. John P. Gordon should not be nominated by the Democrats of this State for Auditor at the August primaries. We do this in the interest of the Democratic party.

Missouri is a Democratic State, and will remain so if we get away from the notion that we can elect anyone we may nominate. The State is now close, and the party should nominate no man for any office who is weaker than the party. The importance of Missouri in the national election is very great, and it would be an inexcusable blunder for the party to load down the ticket with weak candidates and thereby endanger the national ticket.

We do not like to say anything against Mr. Gordon, but it is clear to any thinking man that he is not a fit candidate for the party to nominate for Auditor at this time. Mr. Gordon has been in office for two terms. A third term is always unpopular, and there is no reason why Mr. Gordon should receive this unusual honor. On the contrary, there are strong reasons why he should not receive it. He is justly charged with gross nepotism, and in his defense of this he cites Republican precedent. This will not do. No candidate should have to fall back on such a flimsy defense for a wrong official course on his part. He has conducted himself in office as if he had incurred the hostility of tens of thousands of the friends of the State University. No weaker candidate could be found in the State. His nomination would weaken, and, we fear, endanger the whole ticket. We protest against such folly on the part of the members of our party.

John T. Wayland is especially qualified for the position of State Auditor, and if nominated and elected State Auditor will conduct the office without reproach, and without placing members of his family upon the payroll of the State; and he is worthy of the confidence of his party and the people of this State. Yours very truly,

JAMES COWGILL,
R. J. INGRAHAM.

Kansas City, Mo.

Coercion of Candidates for Office.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.
As a Republican candidate for State Representative, Fourth District, I have been pressed by various interests to line up with them, and to politically oppose other organizations. The situation has become so troublesome, that I am going to ask your permission to use sufficient space to state my position publicly. The influences at work amount almost to coercion. I am neither for nor against the Independent Voters League, the Taxpayers' Protective Federation, German-American Alliance, Anti-Saloon League, Municipal Voters' League and kindred organizations, as such, in my capacity as candidate. It seems to me that I cannot keep my self-respect and comply with the political demands of such societies. In my political experience, I have found that, with the various elements, each one of the afore-mentioned organizations is, on one hand, an asset, and on the other, a liability.

So far as the individuals, or voters, constituting said organizations are concerned, I wish to say that I solicit their support most respectfully as individuals. I can promise them that I am absolutely unhampered by any promise of any kind whatsoever to any faction or organization. No arguments have yet been advanced which have changed my opinion that I ought to go into office, if I am elected, with a free and open mind, so that I can reach an independent conclusion on every proposition that is presented to me as a legislator. It is needless to state that the principles laid down by the Republican party will serve as my guide.

If other candidates stand up with me in assuming this attitude, whether they be Republicans, Democrats or of other political faith, I am satisfied that the efforts of the afore-mentioned organizations could bring about no improper influence on any candidate.

I am firmly convinced that the body of citizens embraced in any one of these organizations, if they could be measured and weighed, they would be found to be just about as good and wholesome as those constituting any of the other organizations.

Therefore, I am neither for nor against any of them, and believing as I do, that their efforts at this time amount to an unhappy and unfortunate political effort, I most respectfully decline to be made a party to any of their schemes, or plans, for their individual members, I hope to be a faithful and loyal public servant.

HENRY KOCH,
514 North Third street.

MRS. HENRY SMITH'S SON.

Mrs. Henry Smith of Winamac, Ind., wrote a letter to President Wilson complaining of the hardships that her son was compelled to undergo as a member of the national guard on duty in Texas.

The President, in his reply, has explained to her that the national guard is at the border "not for the purpose of drill, but for the purpose of protecting the country," and that he "cannot believe that the men of the national guard would wish to be excused from it, or would lose heart because of the discomforts and inconveniences of the service."

If Mrs. Henry Smith were a wise woman she would not be writing to the President bawling the trifling hardships to which her son is obliged to submit as a member of the national guard. She would be down on her knees thanking God that the President is exerting every honorable effort to bring about a peaceful solution of the difficulties with Mexico, and that her boy is not already out on the firing line with the boys of 400,000 other American mothers.

The hardships to which the national guard is subjected on the Texas frontier are about equal to the hardships of an ordinary strenuous vacation in the Maine or Minnesota woods; but war is a serious business. When Mrs. Henry Smith thinks about the petty inconveniences to which her son is subjected, let her think also of the millions of boys in Europe who are in the trenches and who are dying daily by the thousands in the midst of the most ghastly warfare known to human history.

Let her think of the boys lying on the field, with arms blown off, or legs blown off, or faces blown off, perishing in horrible agony for the lack of medical assistance which cannot reach them. Let her think of the millions of boys in Europe who, after this war is over, will be crippled for life or, with health shattered, will be doomed to eke out a wretched existence as hopeless invalids.

Let her think of the millions of mothers who are not worrying because their boys have to eat army rations, but who are worried day and night as to whether they will ever see their boys again alive. Let her try to visualize the hourly terrors of war in which 8,000,000 or 10,000,000 men have already been killed or wounded—most of them boys like her boy.

Then let her remember that except for the statesmanship of Woodrow Wilson the body of her own son might be lying today in an unmarked grave in Flanders or France.

Mrs. Henry Smith, with true maternal solicitude, naturally thinks it is a great nuisance that her boy should have to sweeter in the heat of a Texas summer and live off coarse food, and so it is, but the troubles of her son are very small in comparison with what they would be if the United States had undertaken armed intervention in Mexico. Her own troubles, too, are very small in comparison with what they would be if she were watching the newspapers every day for the list of dead and wounded in the fighting.

There are millions of Mrs. Henry Smiths in this country with boys who would be subject to military duty if the United States went to war. When they are disposed to find fault with the policies of the President, let them devote a little prayerful consideration to the millions of Mrs. Henry Smiths in Europe whose boys are now only memories. But for President Wilson these American mothers would be drinking the bitter dregs of that same cup.

NEGATIVE POLITICAL WISDOM.

Sam Rosenfeld's amusing list of "Don'ts" for candidates (Sam himself is running for Congress in the Twelfth District) includes:

Don't refuse anybody anything.
Don't answer any question directly.
Don't say what you think.
Don't say anything—shake hands and look wise.

"Don't run" might be better advice. But it is a curious fact that negative wisdom carries many men into office. Running often consists in merely refraining from making mistakes, and the non-committal and cautious tipster their way on egg-shells to success, leaving the voters wondering why they elected men whom they knew nothing about and who had no opinions about anything. The most that these men know is how to keep their mouths shut. The true reason why they express opinions about nothing is that they have none to express. And a very excellent piece of negative advice to the voters is—don't elect them, if possible. Because they prove to be stupid and inefficient public servants, or they practice in office the same concealment they practiced in the campaign, with the idea that public business is their private secret.

THE NEW IRISH ORIGIN.

Asquith's paltering over the home rule bill will be a damaging point when the final estimate of the War Premier is made up.

Having long professed to be convinced of the justice of the measure, having received twice the mandate of the country for its passage and having been sustained in removing obstruction by emancipating the House of Lords, he yet delayed. He permitted the bluff of a negligible minority of Unionists, all his political opponents, to override the wishes and negative the pledges of his own party.

A firm hand could quickly have ended the disgraceful and seditious quarrel, but the beginning of the war found it still in progress. Home rule was then hastily passed, but made inoperative until six months after the conclusion of peace, a disingenuous and deceptive piece of legislation whose disappointment for the Irish was depressing.

On the report of Mr. Asquith himself, after the Dublin outbreak, that the existing forms of government in Ireland had broken down, Lloyd-George arranged his celebrated compromise, believed to have composed the disputes of a century. Why this compromise has now failed was confirmed at all essential points by Lloyd-George.

The new plan contained features most distasteful to the Irish, but Mr. Redmond agreed to it and used his great influence to persuade his reluctant followers to accept it. Mr. Carson also agreed to it.

But there are Carsons. Some Carsons are more Carsons than Mr. Carson himself. A few crusty old Tory obstructionists in high places objected and their bluffs again availed more with the Premier than the Irish party, whose loyal support during long years had made his Government possible. It is the home rulers who must always make concessions, sacrifice conviction to opportunist compromise, endure heart-breaking delays and subordinate themselves to political enemies. The whole history of this piece of typical reform legislation shows the incomparable superiority of American representative forms over those of England, which some still eulogize for their responsiveness and automatic quality of action.

Mr. Redmond is justified in considering the withdrawal of his support from the administration. He is placed in an unenviable position before his own party and threats of withdrawal of support are the surest means of bringing the Premier to time. If he refuses to use his power to put the bill through when the demand for domestic harmony in wartime is imperative, how much can be expected of him in time of peace?

AN ADEQUATE NAVY.

The report that the President is throwing the weight of his influence on the side of the Senate's naval program is gratifying. It strengthens the hope that adequate provision will be made for the navy.

The House bill was one-sided and inadequate. It filled only some of the gaps in the navy. It provided for a year's work and left the future to take care of itself.

On the other hand, the Senate bill fully meets all the needs of the navy. While it supplies four battle cruisers it also adds four dreadnoughts. It provides for other branches of the navy which are as important in their place as the great ships. It offers a constructive program which lays the foundation for a navy adequate for our defense and provides for immediate construction on an adequate scale.

The progress that has been made in army legislation and organization does not give hope of adequate land defenses for some years. The people do not fully understand the situation and the wisdom of universal training and service. Experiment and education are required to enlighten them fully. With an adequate navy to protect our shores adequate trained army reserves with equipment are not so pressing necessary as they would otherwise be. A powerful navy will render us fairly safe from the disaster of invasion until we can prepare for land defense.

The climax of superfluity is reached in the printing of the abbreviation "Mo." after the addresses of State candidates on the primary ballot. How could anyone run who does not live in Missouri?

ROACH IDEA IN APPOINTMENTS.

Mr. Roach's statement to a St. Louisian that if elected Governor he will take appointees from the less conspicuous walks of life was coupled with the further statement that his experience has taught him such appointees are honest and efficient. But so much of Mr. Roach's experience in appointment has been confined to the selection of kinkfolk for office that this does not mean much.

Judging by the past doubtless we are only to assume that the larger opportunities of the Governorship would be fully utilized in providing jobs for the family.

POPULAR POETICAL PARODIES.

The death of Miss Arabella Eugenia Smith in Santa Barbara, Cal., might pass unnoticed were it not stated that Miss Smith wrote the poem, "If I Should Die Tonight."

Right here, a number of well-informed persons will rise to remark that there is some mistake—that the verses with the mortuary title were written by the late Ben King, the poet-humorist of St. Joseph, Mich. Yet King, if he were living, would probably be glad to shift as much as possible of his responsibility upon the woman who has just died in California. His verses were a parody, which are known to hundreds of thousands who never read the original. The same thing has happened in the case of the poem, "You Are Old, Father William, the Young Man Said." Every writer of baseball verse has parodied Lewis Carroll's parody of these lines; but how many have ever read the original and uplifting poem by Robert Southey?

Another parody which has survived when the original is forgotten, and which is not today recognized as a parody, is "Columbia, the Gem of the Ocean." Even in England, the original, "Britannia, the Queen of the Ocean," is little known. If Americans were more accustomed to consider the sense of what they are singing, they might realize the absurdity of terming a nation 3500 miles wide the "gem" of a body of water, and might cease to get this song mixed up with "The Star-Spangled Banner."

Our lamented President McKinley lived a Protectionist and died a Reciprocity man. He had begun to think internationally.

EDUCATION HAS SUFFERED.

The annual report of the German Minister of Education for 1916 is noteworthy. It says:

The direct sufferers from war in the educational field are, of course, the universities. 764 of which report a shortage of 49,876 pupils, many having been compelled to close their doors, as they could not offer the required scholarship for the State stipend. Sixteen universities have been closed to seven to maintain the required attendance. The teaching corps of every university has suffered the loss in the last two years of 45 per cent, 1678 professors having been killed or taken prisoners.

The high schools and academies have also suffered severely, directly and indirectly, as 22,435 pupils have been drafted to the army with 3879 teachers, especially the junior classes. Indirectly these schools have suffered from the absence of students who were compelled to find work to support relatives. All in all the attendance in the high schools has fallen off by 32,769. While the elementary schools have not suffered directly the attendance in them has fallen off 2,432,578; and the laws enforcing attendance have all been superseded by ad interim military regulations.

On the whole, says the report, Germany in 1916 exhibits a picture of "growing wild," children go without instruction, youths acquire no learning, the printers are idle, no new books being offered; in fact, the intellectual life of the nation has become stagnant; and it will take stringent measures for many years before the former status can be regained.

THE MIRAGE.

JUST A MINUTE

Written for the POST-DISPATCH
by Clark McAdams

A SIDE-LIGHT ON THE WAR.

(From a Private Correspondent at the Solasons Front.)
As the June sun was gilding the ruins of Beims the 167th Irish Fusiliers flanking Solasons, broke out in a boisterous song:

It's a long, long way to Tipperary;
It's a long, long way to go.
It's a long, long way to Tipperary—
To the sweetest girl I know.
So good-bye Piccadilly, good-bye Leicester Square.
It's a long, long way to Tipperary.
But my heart is right there.

A battalion of Scotch Highlanders stationed next to the Irish contingent took up the song and rendered it about thus:

It's a lang way tae Achtermuchty,
It's a lang way to Perth.
It's a lang way to get anywhere
From anywhere else on earth.
Guid-bye Ballaculish,
Farewell, an' an' ben;
It's a lang, lang way tae Achtermuchty;
But I'll be back again.

Twilight was falling before the dismounted Languedoc Cheveaux Legers in the trenches could make their version heard. But soon the air became filled with the impassioned strain of the French song:

O'est loin d'ici a Paris;
Les Boches n'y viendront pas.
O'est loin d'ici au foyer,
Loin a menage, a fille.
Adieu, Bastille, Montmartre,
La femme, la fille, adieu!
O'est tot ou tard nous venons
A tout ce qui nous est cher.

Hardly had the last notes of the French version passed into the night when the deep choruses of Wuertembergers took up the refrain from the opposite side of the river:

'Sicht weit von hier nach Schtutgart Ihr kommt mal nla dahlia.
'Sicht weit von hier zum Neckar
Zum Weib, zum Kindla his.
Mir kemma bald nach Hause—
Obs his ischt oder dort—
Der Kugelweg ischt naeher, zu Fuss ischts weit dahlia, Wir sind scho aufm Weg.

Night after night, the various arms of the armies located in this sector treat each other to some such entertainment. All are tired of the war.

"What alliance are you working with politically—the German-American?"

"No. As far as I know I'm working with the Indian-English-Irish-Scottish-Dutch-French-Russian-Talian-Greek-Polish-Jewish-Spanish-Mexican-Welsh-African-Lithuanian-Chinese-Japanese-Hawaiian-Hindu-Portuguese-Belgian-Rumanian-Croatian-Sicilian-Armenian-Malay-Yulan-Cuban-Lithuanian-Bosnian-Swiss-Scandinavian-South American-Central American-American Alliance."

"You'll win, I imagine."

THE SLIGHT TO NEW YORK.

NEW YORK will probably vote for Hughes. Resentment of the studied slight to the Empire State in recent presidential appointments has brought out Mr. Wilson's record in this respect, and his case seems hopeless.

Not Justice Clarke alone, but Secretary Baker could just as well have been overlooked for a good New Yorker. That both of them should come from the same State was bad enough, but that they should both have come from the city of Cleveland as well looks to the New York papers as if Mr. Wilson had, as they say around Columbia University, gone out of his way.

We are sure we don't know what the President could do about it. It seems to have been nothing more than a coincidence that Mr. Baker and Justice Clarke both lived in Cleveland. That he had an old sweetheart there and was influenced by that or some similar reason we cannot believe. Probably he just pulled the names out of a hat, in which case New York has as much chance next time as any other state.

We notice that Congressman Hay of Virginia got the last vacancy on the Court of Claims. That may be said to be working over toward New York in a sort of roundabout fashion. However, as much as one may wish to see Mr. Wilson carry New York, it is still impossible to hope that someone high up in the public service will die soon and thereby give the President a chance to do New York justice. Thank Heaven, we are not that kind. If someone would resign, as Mr. Hughes did, it would be nice; but about all the resigning kind, like Mr. Bryan, are probably out by this time. The administration is three years old. We are afraid we shall have to give Mr. Hughes New York and hope to somehow get along without it. Good State, though.

AN IDYL OF THE POOR.

If money's the root of all evil,
And if pleasure's the fruit from a tree
That stands back in the forest primeval,
Forbidden to you and to me,
Let us thank the great Lord of Creation
Who with infinite wisdom and care
Removed us from much of temptation
To which those of great riches fall heir.

To have money's a worthy ambition—
Not the aim of one's life or its goal;
Yet a little would help the condition
Of many a poor, struggling soul
That is burdened with trouble and sorrow
As it travels an unending way
That ever leads on to a morrow
With no promise of more than today.

But the poor have the sun and the flowers,
All the beauty of twilight and dawn,
And the hope of reclining in bowers
With the angels in heaven anon.
While the rich, who have had all the pleasure
That their hard gotten money could buy,
Cannot hope to find any more leisure
In that beautiful land of the sky.

A. WARREN.

We had another one of our celebrated ward trains yesterday afternoon.

ANSWERS TO QUERIES

BEAUTY CULTURE.

G. C.—For growth of hair on arms, dissolve 3 ounces sulphur of barium in 12 ounces of water, and mix with sufficient cornstarch to make a paste. Apply the paste to the arms, the hair will come off with the paste. Should the skin become irritated, use the least possible amount of ointment or sweet cream.

LETHER—Double chin: Turn head left to right 12 times, then right to left same, then up and down. Perform this exercise. A woman writes: To dispense with double chin I made a heavy bandage, which I saturated with vinegar, applied it under my chin, and, bringing it up, pinned with a safety pin on top of my head. I wore this every night, and do not have that troublesome double chin any more. Another writes: I use a double chin can be massaged into a single one, and the trick isn't much of a trick, either. Anoint with skin food, pick up the flesh between thumb and first finger and roll firmly, which process dissolves the fat. Follow with cold compresses. Vibratory treatments will help do the business and stringent lotions are necessary to give firmness to the flesh. Use cold water, gallons of it! Also treat the surface of the skin to a scrub twice a day with a piece of ice which has been wrapped in linen.

FALLING HAIR.
CHERRIES—Salt in some cases will stop the hair from falling and promote the growth. Shake the salt all through the hair with a salt shaker and allow to remain on for five minutes or longer. Do not wash the hair, but gently brush the salt out. It is cleansing and will give faster. A physician writes: "If you will use clean—disinfect in formalin—hair brushes and combs, massage the scalp three times a day with oil it is red from friction, with cold water—nothing else—rub in some liquid sulphur at night, then wash off with castile soap in the morning. It will save your hair."

Miss Cohen says: Half the sons of a bald-headed father are usually bald. The tendency to baldness transmitted through the mother is more pronounced in children than when transmitted through the father. Certain women carry the trait. Women are bald only when they have "double inheritance"; that is, when baldness is a strongly pronounced tendency in the families of both parents, or when the father and mother are bald. A woman with heavy hair may transmit baldness to her children, but a man with good locks does not transmit baldness to his offspring. Hence a bald-headed man whose father is bald must have a mother whose brothers or father were bald. The hair of a young infant comes in according to the pattern of its father's baldness; the part of the head where the father is hairless will be the last to be covered with hair in the baby. Baldness may cause the hair to fall out, but unless there is a tendency toward baldness already existing in the person, the hair will grow again. Baldness may induce baldness at an early age when it would not have developed otherwise, but it is not a fundamental cause of baldness. Tight hats do not cause baldness. Many bald men wear loose hats habitually and many heavy-haired gentlemen don lids which bind the scalp mercilessly.

LAW POINTS.
SUBSCRIBER—Minor must "assault and battery" his mother. Wages may be garnished.
D. I. G.—From time of last payment made on open account, he is outlived in 5 years.

POOR WORKING GIRL.—Two girls' wages were garnished for any debt not 5 years old.

VICTIM.—There isn't anything you can do, as the law is on the side of the law in the charges it made in the instance you mention.

H. E.—Unless your father was naturalized you will need naturalization. Room 410 Custom House will give you full information free.

TRUTH—Curtesy has been abolished in Illinois, and husband receives one-third (one-third) of the estate, regardless of whether the child of wife is of a former marriage.

SUBSCRIBER.—Nothing to do in your case is to make tenant vacate. Give a month's written notice and deliver up the keys. If rent is due on the following day go to collect your rent and if he refuses to pay, suit for same may be brought the next day.

TENANT.—If, after you move into a 6-room house, clean up the floors, dig up the lawn and plant grass and an make things pretty, you can expect anything for your trouble and expense, having had a written agreement with the owner. It is not unusual for tenants to make such improvements.

MISCELLANEOUS.
E. V. B.—Ask 15 N. 11th.
H. A.—For the name you ask, try telephone Mrs. Philip B. Poulk.

THANKS—Headquarters, Humanitarian Club, 150 Broadway, New York.

H. R.—Roman Catholics are 2,000,000; Protestants, 177,000,000.

R. H.—One per cent of carbolic acid for 1 quart water, 10 grams acid. An ounce of carbolic acid to 100 liquid ounces would also be 1 per cent.

LEO—Isaac Cutter, grand secretary of Illinois Grand Lodge of Masons, Camp Point, Ill. Total membership, 100,000 lodges in Illinois—over 100,000 members.

OBRIEN.—Perhaps you could get figures from the Railway Age Gazette of Chicago. We don't think the Cleveland railroad union has any of McKimley and Taft affected the great deal of political propaganda in such statements. If we are having good government, we need not worry about what was good or bad in the past.

YOUNG GIRLS.—Arrange some kind of a playlet or vaudeville program, consisting of recitations, vocal selections and novelty acts. Rehearse play for a few weeks. Sell tickets to the entertainment to the neighborhood people.

THE PURE MILK.—The pure milk is worth; possibly 5 cents will be a fair admission fee. At the show have candy, ice cream, lemonade and other dainties for sale. When the play is over come to this office and tell the Pure Milk people how much money you earned, and the other details of the entertainment. Your pictures will be printed in the paper, and an account of what you did to aid the Milk Fund will be written. If these instructions are not understood, call at our office and ask for the Pure Milk Editor.

C—Nov. 27, 1912, at the fourth annual Pan-American Thanksgiving celebration, with its attendant mass service of thanks to the United States and the 31 Latin American Republics, at the Washington. President Wilson, Secretary Bryan, other Cabinet officers, the diplomatic corps, the Chief Justice White and Justice McKenna of the Supreme Court, and Senators, Representatives and other public officials attended. # "Lady Hard Luck"

A plucky woman, her large estate lost, meets surprising good fortune that enables her to carry out philanthropies and repay her benefactor.

By Genevieve Ulmar.

I was with an iron hand, but a gentle heart, as was her splendid nature, that Ines Walton took up the distracted threads of destiny amid the wreck and ruin of a great fortune. "It's incredible, but true," spoke the old family lawyer, Gideon Blake. "Your father, it seems, was the victim of the most fantastic and unreasonable experiments and speculations. A Rothschild couldn't afford it." "As I understand you, then," spoke Ines, steadily, although her lip trembled, "the estate, as we have called it, has dwindled down to the little farm place at Bridgeton?" "And the wet meadows a mile beyond, and a worthless waste stretch. But the sale of the estate equities will pay all the debts?" "Just that, with possibly a few hundred over." "Then I am satisfied," said the elderly young lady. "The debts can be honorably liquidated at least, and there is shelter and the pensioners are sure of a home." "I fear you will have to give up your philanthropic ideas, Miss Walton." "Never!" came the firm, simple reply. "When I fancied I was rich I adopted old Uncle and Aunt Daniels and their two helpless orphaned grandchildren. They are my sacred charges. Much or little, they shall share what bounty I have till the end." The good old lawyer viewed his handsome client indulgently—and with a certain shade of sadness, withal. In his estimation she was "a splendid lady!" He respected her force of character and admired her beauty. He wondered why, with all her capabilities for attracting attention, she had not chosen a life mate and evaded the harsh rigors her acceptance of four helpless charges was certain to bring to her. But Ines was loyal and sincere. She was naturally disappointed to see what had been considered a great fortune practically fade away into nothingness. There was a mighty consolation, however, all the debts were paid. Within a week she and her pensioners were quite comfortably domiciled in the old house at Bridgeton. She sold off the horses and carriages. The lawyer saved a moiety from the sale of the real estate and Ines found herself the possessor of a liquid capital of about $500.

"We're not so bad off, after all," she observed cheerfully to her aunt and uncle. "We can all do some garden work. There is a cow, some chickens, and 20 acres ought to provide for us with a little drawn from the ready capital. The children must go to school, Aunt Huldah can knit and I can sew, and we shall get along charmingly." "Yes, indeed," readily chirped in her uncle, "and I am not so old that I cannot do a little work now and then for neighboring farmers." It depressed Ines when for the first time she went to look at "the wet meadows." They covered a few acres and were a foot deep with swamp grass and water. There seemed to be a spring in the center which bubbled up irrefragably, the waste water having made a sort of river bed, and draining into the creek half a mile away. Surrounding it was a noble stretch of landscape—woods, valley, a little lake, and quite recently most of this land had been taken over by a city syndicate. Ines heard that the enterprising speculator controlling it was planning to buy up all the land available and start an up-to-date summer resort. "It's ideal, that is sure," reflected Ines—"all but my poor little damp patch of bog. Oh, dear!" Swamp Brings Ines Wealth That She Did Not Expect.

THE exclamation was caused by a sudden gust of wind taking her new hat flying. It was a dainty creation, and it skimmed the long waving grass and gently sailed down across the top of a stunted bush. Ines glanced at her low slippers and the treacherous clint of water under the grassy knee deep in some places. She was about to turn from the spot and find some barefooted farmer's boy to help her out in her predicament, when she noticed, appearing from behind some bushes near the spring, a young man, whose high boots, lifted his cap to her, boldly traded after her hat and restored it to her. In the interim Ines had noticed that a second man directly at the spring was filling some bottles with the water.

She thanked the stranger very much, and left the spot wondering why he might be, but surmising that he was one of the group who were visiting the site of the new summer resort regularly. It was about a week later that, as Ines came in from the garden, her aunt announced a visitor waiting for her in the little parlor. She was surprised to find that this was the young man who had rescued her runaway hat. "I represent the new syndicate which is to operate the summer resort here," Miss Walton, he stated. "We have been looking over your spring property. The truth is, we find that its water is of rare medicinal value. To add a spring equal in its virtues to the famous spas abroad is to have a very valuable feature in our general equipment. We wish the right to use it and to build a pagoda, park the surrounding and establish drinking fountains and baths. The negotiation has been left entirely in your hands. I have decided to offer you $5000."

"Oh, what a blessing!" cried the delighted Ines. "With that I can better provide for my dear ones." "Five thousand a year on a 10-year lease," concluded the young man, and Ines sat fairly stunned with amazement. "You cannot mean it!" she gasped. "Why, I offered the land for $1000 outright when I first came here." "That may be true," spoke Alvin Hughes, "but its value was not then known. I might have bargained if I had been dealing with a man, but you?" She Uses Her Means to Become Lady Bountiful to the Needy.

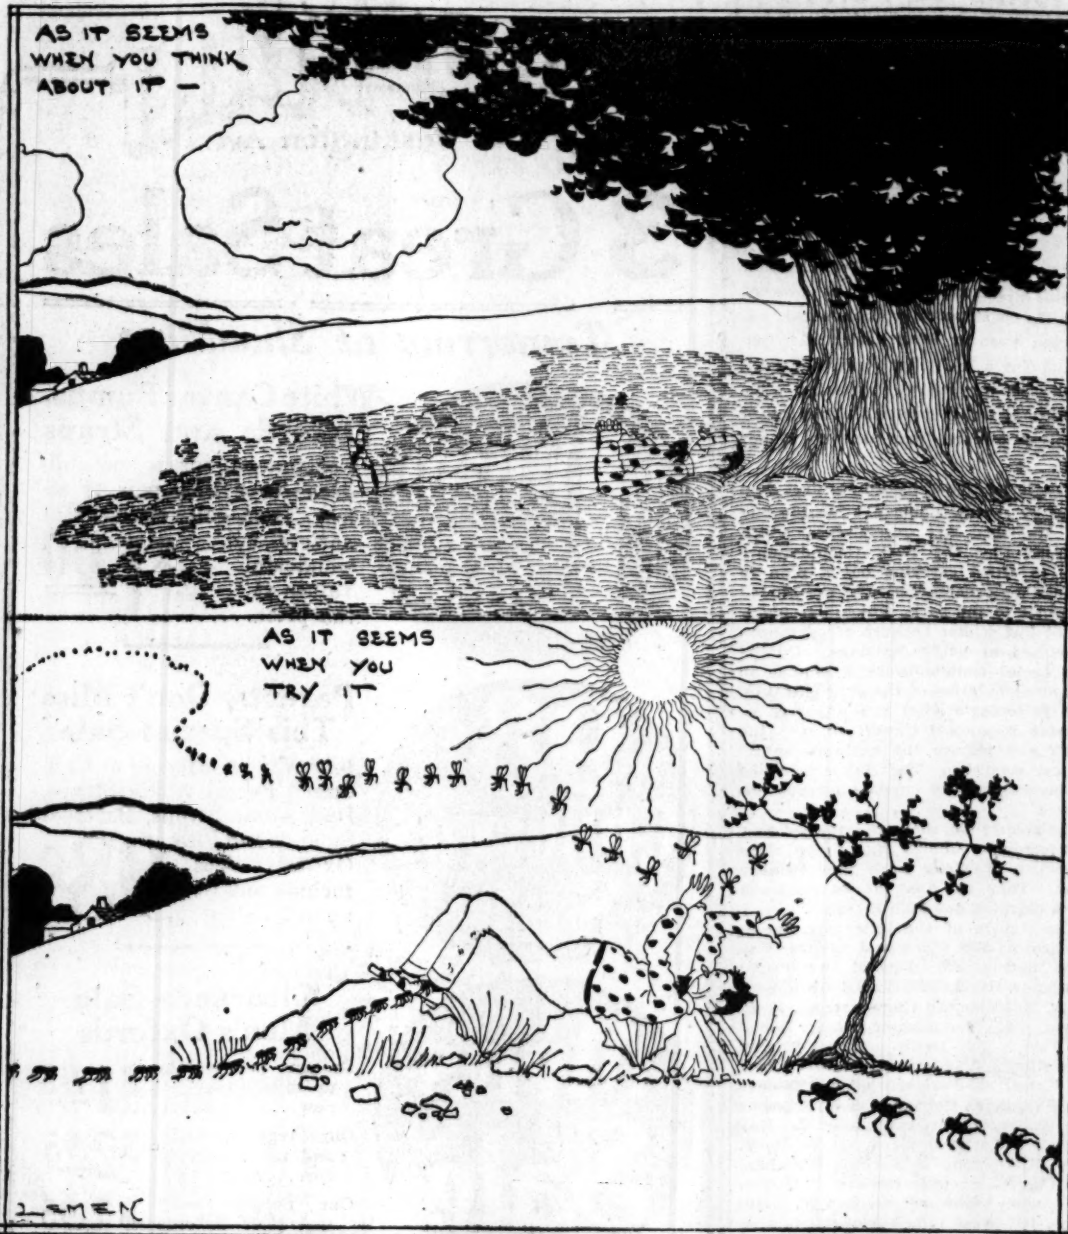

HE paused; he did not go on to tell of all the good he had heard of this sterling young woman and the chivalric and noble in his nature that bade him protect her interests. "Lady Hard Luck," and later she became Lady Thoughtful, and Lady Interested, when she learned that the syndicate managers, when they found out that their representative had acted like a man of honor instead of taking easy advantage of an inexperienced young lady, promptly turned him adrift. She could not get the sufferer on her behalf out of her mind. She located him at last through a friend, filling a rather poor position. He had brought her comparative opulence, surely comfort and a competency. He was the one in hard luck now, and all for her sake. A woman's wit brought about a meeting. A woman's love, genuine and supreme, Alvin Hughes would not share her fortune. Her loyal affection was sufficient, and he was the kind of a man who could make his way rapidly when the smile of a brave, encouraging woman was his—all his own. So Lady Hard Luck became old Lady Bountiful, her sweet life filled not only with the love of a loyal man, but scattering its perfume among all those with whom her radiant nature came in contact.

Sorrel Makes Fine Sauce. "A WEED," said Emerson, "is only a plant whose uses and virtues we have not yet discovered." Under this head we may class that familiar little plant of our door yards, the common sorrel. Although we make no use of it Europeans regard it highly and even plant it in their gardens. Cooked by itself and made into a smooth puree it is an excellent sauce for meat, especially for roast pork or lamb. A few handfuls added to a dish of spinach will be found a pleasant change. There is only one precaution to be observed in cooking sorrel. Never use metal. The acid contained in the plant has a marked effect on the metal. For this reason cook it in an enameled-ware utensil and use an enameled-ware spoon in stirring it.

A Costly Search. THIRTY years ago the Peabody Museum of Yale University recovered part of a skeleton of a dinosaur from a red sandstone quarry in South Manchester, Conn., but the quarry was then sold and most of the stone put into a $100,000 bridge. Now the university authorities have permission to tear down this bridge to find the rest of the dinosaur's bones.

Madam Hen's Narrow Escape

By Mrs. F. A. Walker.

EARLY one evening Mr. Fox walked over the hills before the moon came up. He had slept all day, and was ready for his supper, but as he had brought home only one goose the night before he had eaten that for breakfast. "Those hens and chickens go to bed early," he said, as he walked along. "and I believe I will take a walk about the barnyard and see if I can get in the poultry house." So Mr. Fox poked his head up to the window of the poultry house and looked in. Madam Hen saw him and began to cackle. "Hush! Hush!" said Mr. Fox, "you will spoil it all and miss the fun if you make all that noise." Madam Hen was quiet at once, for she dearly loved to know all that was going on, and she hoped along on the roof until she came to the window.

"What is it?" she asked through the glass. "What is going on?" "Oh, I am going to give a dance by the light of the moon down the road a short distance," said Mr. Fox, "and if you all keep very quiet you can get out without your master finding it. Don't tell the old rooster. He is too tough. I mean he is too old to enjoy fun; he is not gay and young like you and me, Madam Hen."

MR. FOX ran off when he finished his invitation and Madam Hen jumped down from the window after him. "He cannot mean any harm," she said, "or he would not have gone away. I believe I will take a run down the road and see what is going on. I won't say a word to anybody." Madam Hen jumped down from the roof and left all the others sleeping. She squeezed through a hole where a board was loose and out she went into the yard. "What a lark!" she said. "Even Mr. Dog is asleep. I shall love to see Mr. Fox dance. I'll go. I can run back long before sunrise and who is to know?" Off she ran, but she had got only as far as the road when Mr. Fox, who had been watching for her, grabbed her and trotted off toward his den. "Oh, Mr. Fox, I do not mind being a meal for so handsome a fellow as you are," said Madam Hen, "but to think I am to die without seeing you dance when I know you must be the most graceful fellow in the whole world. It is almost more than I can endure." "I expect you can dance better than Mr. Wolf, and I have heard that he can dance very finely, too."

MR. FOX dropped Madam Hen, but he kept one paw on her and said: "Who said that fellow Wolf could dance?" "Who spoke my name?" asked a gruff voice, and out of the woods stepped Mr. Wolf. "Mr. Fox said he was a better dancer than you, Mr. Wolf," said Madam Hen, thinking that every minute brought daylight nearer. "Did you say that?" asked Mr. Wolf, showing his teeth and looking very unpleasant at Mr. Fox. "Yes, I did, and I am willing to prove it, and leave it to Madam Hen to decide," said Mr. Fox. "So am I," said Mr. Wolf, "the moon is coming up now and this will be a fine place for a dance. Let Madam Hen sit over on that rock and watch us." "Very well, I agree," said Mr. Fox, "I shall keep my eye on you, Madam Hen, and you know very well it will do you no good to try to escape. I can catch you, no matter how far away you get."

To Kill the Lazy Worm

THE cure for indolence is beginning to work. A distinguished preacher once remarked that in every case where in the Bible an angel appeared to a man, that man was at work. A great teacher of music confessed that the secret of his success lay in learning at an early age not to be ruled by his feelings, since usually his feelings changed when he began to do the thing that he ought to be doing at that particular time. A famous author gave as his only advice to a young man who wished to become an author: "Sit down and begin to write!" Dr. Hilly, a Swiss teacher of note, says: "If one permits himself habitually to stop and ask that indolent part of him which the apostle calls 'the old man' what he would like to do, or would prefer not to do, 'the old man' is most unlikely to vote for serious work, but betakes himself to excellent religious or moral advice."

FOUR FIREMEN INJURED—3 OVERCOME IN DOWNTOWN FIRE

Three Upper Floors of Warehouse at 109 South Eleventh Street Destroyed.

Three firemen were overcome by smoke and four others were cut by glass and temporarily blinded by smoke in a fire which destroyed the upper three stories of a five-story warehouse at 109 South Eleventh street shortly after 8 p. m. yesterday. The fire, occurring at the going home hour, attracted a large crowd.

The four lower stories of the building were occupied by the United Bakers' Supply Co., and the two upper stories were used as a warehouse by the May-Stern Furniture Co. No employees were in the building when the fire was discovered. M. J. Ehrlich, vice president of the May-Stern Co., said furniture valued at about $75,000 was stored in the building. The United Bakers' Supply Co. valued its stock at about $75,000. The amount of the loss has not been determined.

MAYOR AGAIN IS ASKED TO FORBID ROADWAY IN PARK

Prominent Signers of Letter Prefer West Pine Boulevard in Old Condition.

Opposition to Park Commissioner Cunliff's announced plan to proceed with the construction of the roadway extending west in Pine boulevard from Grand Drive in Forest Park to Lindell boulevard, was renewed yesterday when another letter of protest, signed by 18 property owners, was sent to Mayor Kiel.

The letter joins in the protest last week by the St. Louis Art League and the Municipal Art Commission, which charged that the Park Commissioner was in effect carrying out a plan to change the ornamentation of the Lindell entrance to the park, which was abandoned last winter because of opposition developed at public hearings. Cunliff has denied contemplating a change in the ornamentation of the park entrance.

In yesterday's letter the Mayor is requested to compel Cunliff to stop the work and restore the entrance to its former condition. The Mayor is asked to investigate the expense already incurred.

The signers say they are informed that Commissioner Cunliff intends to close a section of Wells drive near Skinker road. They ask that he be restrained from carrying out such a plan. The signers of the letter are: James H. Grover, 5103 Waterman avenue; Eugene Pettus, 5061 Lindell boulevard; Benjamin Gratz, 5155 Lindell boulevard; N. A. McMillan, 501 Clark avenue; E. B. #### LAURENCE GINNELL DELAYS HOUSE OF COMMONS SITTING

Nationalist Has Dispute With Home Secretary Samuel and Is Forced to Withdraw.

LONDON, July 27.—Laurence Ginnell, Nationalist, whose opposition to the Government has grown more aggressive since the Irish insurrection last Easter, caused a short suspension of the sitting in the House of Commons today owing to his refusal to withdraw when ordered to do so by the Speaker of the House. Not until the sergeant-at-arms had summoned assistance and his brother, Nationalist, had advised him to do so did Ginnell obey the command of the Speaker.

The Nationalist member had asked Herbert Samuel, Secretary for Home Affairs, whether the military authorities at the time of the insurrection at Dublin had the sanction of the Government for bombarding "the headquarters of the Cumannannan nurses, cutting the red crosses off their dresses and imprisoning them as criminals." The Home Secretary categorically denied all the allegations, whereupon Ginnell said: "Owing to the insolent reply of the Minister," he got no further as there were loud shouts of "order." He withdrew the word "insolent," but insisted upon returning the question, whereupon the Speaker "named him to the House" and, in accordance with practice, Premier Asquith moved that Ginnell be suspended. Ginnell alone voted against the motion.

WASHINGTON, July 27.—Warning was issued to the public today by the Department of Agriculture to look with extreme suspicion upon any preparation put on the market and offered for sale as being effective for the treatment of infantile paralysis.

Department officials charged with the enforcement of the food and drug act, an announcement states, "expect the outbreak of infantile paralysis will tempt unscrupulous persons to offer for sale so-called 'cures' or remedies for this dread malady. They, therefore, have issued special instructions to food and drug inspectors to be particularly alert for interstate shipment or importation of medicines, the makers of which allege that they will cure or alleviate this disease for which at the present time no medicinal cure is known."

LAURENCE GINNELL DELAYS HOUSE OF COMMONS SITTING

Nationalist Has Dispute With Home Secretary Samuel and Is Forced to Withdraw.

LONDON, July 27.—Laurence Ginnell, Nationalist, whose opposition to the Government has grown more aggressive since the Irish insurrection last Easter, caused a short suspension of the sitting in the House of Commons today owing to his refusal to withdraw when ordered to do so by the Speaker of the House. Not until the sergeant-at-arms had summoned assistance and his brother, Nationalist, had advised him to do so did Ginnell obey the command of the Speaker.

The Nationalist member had asked Herbert Samuel, Secretary for Home Affairs, whether the military authorities at the time of the insurrection at Dublin had the sanction of the Government for bombarding "the headquarters of the Cumannannan nurses, cutting the red crosses off their dresses and imprisoning them as criminals." The Home Secretary categorically denied all the allegations, whereupon Ginnell said: "Owing to the insolent reply of the Minister," he got no further as there were loud shouts of "order." He withdrew the word "insolent," but insisted upon returning the question, whereupon the Speaker "named him to the House" and, in accordance with practice, Premier Asquith moved that Ginnell be suspended. Ginnell alone voted against the motion.

WARNING AS TO FAKE CURES

U. S. Tells Public Not to Use Infantile Paralysis Medicines.

WASHINGTON, July 27.—Warning was issued to the public today by the Department of Agriculture to look with extreme suspicion upon any preparation put on the market and offered for sale as being effective for the treatment of infantile paralysis.

Department officials charged with the enforcement of the food and drug act, an announcement states, "expect the outbreak of infantile paralysis will tempt unscrupulous persons to offer for sale so-called 'cures' or remedies for this dread malady. They, therefore, have issued special instructions to food and drug inspectors to be particularly alert for interstate shipment or importation of medicines, the makers of which allege that they will cure or alleviate this disease for which at the present time no medicinal cure is known."

tains every promise of being a triumph from every viewpoint. The

We have organized pretty fairly play, with cleverly chosen and prepared vaudeville numbers as a supplement, and the neighborhood interest aroused is of large proportion. These little supporters of the cause are Marie and Gertrude Hughes, Mary and Cecelia Smythe and Paul Hennessy.

Little Elizabeth Lyman of 5687 Vernon avenue is an industrious worker for the welfare of the poor babies, and has had enthusiastic co-operation from two of her playmates. After conducting one lemonade stand for the cause with Emily Hurd of 5553 Vernon avenue, who was the cashier, she made a substantial total. Elizabeth united with Ruth Hickerson of 5527 Vernon avenue in another lemonade stand, the aggregate from the two being $2.56. Each of these little mites entered upon their duty with zeal, which, with their individual popularity, brought the handsome result.

A clever entertainer, including motion pictures and magic lantern slides, supplemented by a three-act play and a number of well-chosen vaudeville acts, given at 5440 Garfield avenue, earned $3.90 for the benefit of the babies. The several children in the affair either sang or recited poems. The children, all of whom live on Garfield avenue, are: Leslie and Heather L. Benge, 5347; Edith and Helen Davis, 5340; Clifford and Calvin Lavigne, 5343; Harold Holmes, 5341; Harold Loures, 5315, and Adele and Bertram La Gerge, 5345.

Four girls, assisted by a 3-year-old boy, successfully operated a lemonade stand at 4704 Nebraska avenue Friday, from which they earned $4 for the Pure Milk and Free Ice Fund. They sold the lemonade for any price that their patrons felt disposed to pay. Bobby Wilfert of 4704A Nebraska, Helen Bender of 3227 North Dakota, Vera and Norma Spanning of 4704 Nebraska and Lillian Bruning of 4709 Nebraska participated in the conduct of the stand.

Another lemonade stand was operated at Hodiamont and Julian avenues from Monday to Thursday in the afternoon, earned $2.23 for the fund. The children in this enterprise had an eye for beauty and decorated their stand with skill. Lemonade was served in cups and on a glass. Dorothy Leona of 1590A Hodiamont avenue, Stella Simon of 1244A Hodiamont and Catherine Comer of 1408 Laurel avenue were in charge of this stand.

Cash Register Used.

Two pairs of sisters, living next door to each other, inspired by strong desire to afford relief to the poor babies, gave a charming vaudeville entertainment at the home of Carrie and Muriel Gold of 3871 Easton street, Sunday, when $1.50 was earned for the fund. The Goldberg sisters were assisted by Selma and Fannie Walberg of 3871 Easton avenue. The program consisted of singing, fancy dancing and recitations, all of which were charmingly given.

Several children who conducted a lemonade stand at the corner of Nineteenth and Benton streets reaped good profits from their enterprise by permitting customers to "ring up" on a cash register which they spent considerable time in that section of the city. They went to the stand and bought glasses of lemonade for the privilege of "ringing-up" their pennies on the register. The stand, which was in operation only for a short time, earned $3 and furnished much diversion for the youngsters. It was managed it Selma Henselmeyer of 1338 Benton street, Estelle and Marcelle Kunts of 1837 Benton, and Gertrude and Irene Ruh of 2421 North Nineteenth street operated the stand. Mr. Ruh loaned the children the cash register.

$600 Mirror Brings $15.50 at Auction —$3000 Mural Paintings Go at $10.50.

At the conclusion of the sale of the furnishings of the famous Tom Faust restaurant, last night, it was found that the gross receipts from the auction amounted to about $4000. At the opening of the sale the auctioneer had said the contents of the restaurant in their present condition were worth at least $30,000. Their original cost was much greater.

Many bargains were picked up on the closing day of the sale. The $600 cut crystal chandelier in the second floor dining room sold for $15. The pier mirror, which also had cost $500, was purchased for $15.50. The entire cigar stand equipment, installed a few years ago at a cost of $600, brought $12.50. The massive mahogany sideboard in the upper dining room was sold for $11. The solid mahogany dining chairs sold at $1.20 to $1.50 each. The dining tables ranged from $1.15 to $2.40, and the serving tables brought $1.50 each.

Four large and four small mural paintings in the upper dining room brought $10.50 for the lot. The auctioneer said their original cost was more than $3000.

Don't Ever Let Anyone Tell

You This as a New One.
WOMAN (to caller): Will you take a chair?
Caller: No, thank you. I'm the installment collector. I came for the piano.

Making Sure

A FARMER lived on a lonely place and eventually a railroad was run through the district. There was one train a day and it stopped at the farmer's station on signal.
The farmer one day set the signal and the train drew up. But he did not climb aboard.
"Well, get on," shouted the conductor. "Get on, can't you?"
"Excuse me," said the farmer. "I don't want to get on. I only want to say that you are to stop here at this time tomorrow, as my wife is going to town to do some shopping."

In the Parlor.

SHE had tried yawning, but even that failed to get rid of him. I recently a clock outside in the hall began to strike in low, deep tones the midnight hour.
"Oh, I say, Miss Green," said the late stayer, brightly, "is that an eight-day clock?"
Miss Green smiled coldly at him.
"Well," she said, stifling another yawn, "why don't you stay a little longer and find out?"

To tell our own secrets is generally

generally folly, but that folly is without guilt; to communicate those with which we are interested in always treacherous, and treachery for the most part combined with folly.—Johnson.

Some Job!

I'M thinking of getting married, pa. What's it like?
"You had a job as janitor once, didn't you?"
"Yes."
"And you had a position as a watchman once, didn't you?"
"Yes."
"And you worked a while as a caretaker, didn't you?"
"Yes."
"Well, it's a combination of all three jobs, and then some."

They're Married Now.

SARCASTIC father: Julia, that young man Riley has been here three nights in succession, and it has been nearly midnight when he left. Hadn't you better invite him to bring his trunk and make his home with us?
Innocent Daughter: Oh, papa, may I? It is just what he wanted, but he was too bashful to ask you. He'll be delighted when I tell him this evening.

The time is never lost that is devoted to work.

—Emerson.

The Very Time.

FOR mercy's sake, Freddie exclaimed his mother. "Where have you been? It's nearly two hours since I sent you to the grocer's for a pound of butter, and I told you to hurry right back!"
"I forgot, ma," said Freddie. "I stopped to look at the baseball bulletins, and—"
"Oh, you naughty boy! I'm going to tell your father the very minute he comes home!"
"Tell him if you want to," replied the boy. "I don't care. He won't lick me today. The home team won the game."

Another Kind.

THEY are not going to cut me up if I go to the hospital, are they?
"Of course not, when you're going just for a rest. What makes you think they are?"
"Because when I called up the hospital a voice said 'Operator.'"

Looking Backward.

THERE'S no danger," said the doctor. "It's only a carbuncle coming on the back of your neck. But you must keep your eye on it!"
—Christian Register.

The Reason.

WELL, you've had your vacation, and now you're all rested up and ready for work, I suppose.
"I'm ready for work, all right, but it isn't because I'm rested. It's because I'm broke."

Hard Luck.

CHEER UP, old man. Don't be downhearted. Remember everything goes in this world.
"That's just the trouble. Everything goes and nothing comes in."

Old Silas Gets Hot in the Collar

SAID Silas McGuggin in Peewee's story: "They never no use in a man gettin' sore. They tell me the anger will shorten one's life. I smile every time I run up against strife. You won't catch me frownin' just 'cause somethin's wrong. I've got self-control and my will-power's strong. This town would be peaceful and quiet and fine if all of its men had mild temper like mine." Jed Peewee winked at old Peleg McGee. Said he: "Si, yer mem'ry ain't workin'. I see. Yer temper got bilin' when my old gray cat growled playful and clawed that there hole in yer hat. And then when your wife made you dish the ice cream up home at her party you let out a stream of words that jest spilled a whole lot of good air."

No Doubt About It.

BASE BALL TO-DAY

"You go right away from here, Jimmie Jones! I found this knot hole first, and besides, this is ladies' day."

Prepared.

THEM city gals that boardin' over to Hawkins' must have thought they was goin' to have muddy weather all the time up here.

Strategy.

WHAT was all the argument between you and Judge Plivver yesterday?
"Oh, we were discussing the merits of our respective cars."
"That's a foolish thing to do. You can never convince a man that your car is better than his."

Profit.

I'VE just invested $10,000 in a Florida orange grove. I expect to make a lot of money out of it.
"What do you know about raising oranges?"
"Who said anything about raising oranges? I expect to sell that grove to a friend of mine for $15,000."

Revenge.

I'M learning to play the clarinet.
"Why, I didn't know you had any ear for music whatever."
"I haven't, but the chap who lives next door to me has got a dog that barks all night and I've got to get even with him somehow."

Out of Date.

WHEN I was a young man of your age, my son, I had to paddle my own canoe.
"I know, father, but that was before motor boats were invented."

HITS FROM SHARP WITS

Music is whatever the ear accepts as such.

Trusting to luck is a mighty poor profession at which to make a living.

A good diplomat appears to be a fellow who knows how to talk but never does.

Generally when a man tells you he's self-made, don't you wonder why he isn't ashamed to admit it?

A cheerful disposition gives the wrinkles that old age brings the direction that the creases of smiles take.

If He Only Could.

Pelican: I've never eaten a shark before, but I'll try anything once.

It has been our observation that the man who is being driven to drink usually develops the speed of a Maud S.

While two women are going through the throes of kissing each other man looks on in an attitude of helplessness.

A woman blacksmith out in Indiana says she would rather shoe a horse than mend a garment. No doubt, no doubt. Most women prefer the hammer to the needle.

Uplifters are persons who know just how the world could be made better through the changing of the ways of others.

Some men require hot weather to bring out the best that is in them. But a loafer panther after the shade and thinketh maybe he will do something next fall.

Keeping Posted.

I SEE Blinks always carries a volume of the Encyclopedia with him to read on the train instead of a newspaper.
"Yes, you know he has three small children at home, and he makes it a point to try to answer all the questions they ask him."

Necessary.

I AM going on an extended automobile tour next week, and I was just wondering what I'll need on the trip.
"Well, for one thing, I'd advise you to take along a good stout pair of walking shoes."

Her Ideal.

HAVE you heard that Grace is engaged to be married? She says she has found her ideal at last.
"What was her ideal, I wonder?"
"Any man who would propose to her."

Unhappy.

WELL, Bobbie, I suppose you are having a great time these vacation days.

"Naw, I ain't. If I go barefooted now makes me wash my feet every night before I go to bed, and if I wear shoes and stockings I might as well be goin' to school."

They Seldom Do.

SEE your next door neighbor keeps chickens.

"Yes, but I wish he would keep them at home."

Refined.

WHAT is a pedestrian, pa?

"A pedestrian, my boy, is a man who can't afford to buy an automobile."

Habit.

I WASN'T always like this, lady," said the wayfarer at the back door. "They was a time when I had everything money can buy."

"You poor man! How did you come to this?"
"I'll tell you, lady. My wife used to keep me on the go all the time. One week it would be Newport and the next week it would be Palm Beach or the Adirondacks or else Europe, according to where the society folks happened to be goin'. We spent all our money that way, and when it was all gone I was so used to travelin' that I just naturally couldn't stop, so I took to trampin'."

A little booming now and then is relieved by the worst of men.
